Intelligence Analyst Position Available

Information Network Associates, Inc. (INA) has a continuous posting for a professional to join our organization as an entry level Intelligence Analyst. In this role you will be responsible for reviewing, analyzing, and summarizing data from various sources in support of global monitoring and analysis of threats to our client and their personnel/travelers and assets in all countries of operation. The incumbent must possess a high degree of operational and information security awareness, discretion, and confidentiality. This position will work as part of a team to ensure the Global Watch Desk is staffed 24/7. This position will be located in Rahway, New Jersey, with a major Fortune 100 client.

Essential requirements of the position include, but are not limited to:

- The ability to actively monitor situational awareness systems including facilities security feeds, open source media, third-party provider information/analysis subscriptions, and other sources to support the client's threat awareness and forecasting.
- Academic or practical experience with risk intelligence analysis and threat assessments.
- Demonstrated knowledge of international affairs and security environments in overseas environments, with a willingness to develop specialized understanding.
- Proven ability to write effectively and professionally in clear, concise English (American or British).
- Demonstrated proficiency in various Microsoft Office applications, to include Word, Excel, Power Point, etc.
- Ability and willingness to work shift/rotation based schedules outside normal business hours with the ability to work independently at times based on shift requirements.

The ideal candidate should possess a Bachelor's degree in a related field of study, or five years of progressively complex analysis or threat monitoring work or any combination of skills, knowledge, and ability may be substituted.

Preferred requirements for the position include:

- Knowledge and specialization in one or more regions of the world, particularly outside of the United States, with regard to local security and/or political dynamics.
- Academic studies in international relations/security.
- Knowledge of, or experience with, security operations.
- Proficiency in reading/speaking a foreign language.

This is an entry level position and as such, compensation will be commensurate based on experience. The selected candidate will also be eligible for a robust benefit package including medical, dental, and vision benefits, paid time off, company paid holidays, and more.

This is a continuous posting and will remain open until filled. Interested candidates are encouraged to submit their cover letter, resume, and compensation requirements to sthomas@ina-inc.com.
